Cork v Dublin

Cork play Dublin in the final round of the Allianz Hurling League on Sunday, April 17th at 2.30pm in Páirc Uí Chaoimh. While Cork's hopes of qualification were ended quite early in the campaign, a closing victory would be very encouraging, and the battle for the Final places will go down to this last round of games, so Dublin have it all to play for. We'll have pre-match entertainment, a half-time mini-game, and as usual, U16 admission is free.

County Board Report

At the County Board Meeting of April 5th, standing orders were suspended to allow the passing of a vote of sympathy to the family of Nemo Rangers delegate Sean Buckley. Reports were heard from recent inter-county games, and the motions for Congress were debated. A vote was taken on Motion 47A regarding yellow cards and extra time, which was defeated 95-59. The Tadhg Crowley Plate finalists, Nemo Rangers and Newcestown were presented with their cheques.

The next meeting will be on Tuesday, April 19th.
