

WANTED: MEN'S COACH

Providence Rugby Football Club is currently accepting applicants for the position of Men's Head Coach for the Fall 2019 season. PRFC was established in 1969 and compete in the NERFU Division III conference. Player experience ranges from complete beginners to veterans with 10+ years on the pitch with varying degrees of skill and game knowledge. As a team, we are seeking to elevate our skills and competitive level of play while maintaining a commitment to sportsmanship and camaraderie.

We practice on Tuesdays and Thursdays with matches held at fields in or near Providence (Pawtucket, Seekonk, East Providence).

Requirements:

- Ability to plan and attend two practices a week and Saturday matches.
- Ability to provide instruction and encouragement to players of all skill levels and positions.
- Willingness to provide feedback individually and collectively.
- A passion to nourish and evolve club pride and culture.
- Open communication with club officers and players in a fun, safe, and welcoming environment.
- USA Rugby certification or a willingness to obtain certification prior to the start of the fall season.

Compensation will be based on training and experience.

Interested candidates will be invited for an interview with a selection committee.

Please respond to RIRFF President, Jason Giroux jjgiroux141@gmail.com with a short description of your coaching or rugby background, relevant certifications, and contact information. All candidates will be considered.
